Let's highlight the November auction: You will remember that items to be entered must be given to the auctioneer, Jack Case before the November meeting. That means bring them to the September or October meeting [September is best – give Jack more time to get ready]. Auction cards will be available, so don't worry about not having these. Be sure to describe your material well. That will give potential buyers the best information and that is what sells! Haven't entered material before, or not in a long time? Why not try it with one or two lots?

The Program Schedule has some additional features this month. We have started adding times to the various programs so speakers will know how much time is allocated and you the audience will know, as well. Note also the 'What Do You Collect?' feedback has been slipped a month. When times were examined that was found necessary.

What kind of programs do you want to see listed on page two? When we do get to our feedback session in October some feedback from the audience will be in order too. Come prepared!

Do you feel a drop of rain? Nah!
Bring on the dessert and prizes.

When a man sits with a pretty girl for an hour, it seems like a minute.
But let him sit on a hot stove for a minute – and it's longer than any hour.
That's relativity.
