Club News

It was a beautiful day and whether you took home one of the many 'door prizes' or not, the food was good and the company was great. Just look on pg 3 for some reminders of that day – and keep in mind these were candid shots, so you were caught in all manner of poses.

You can note what is coming up with a look at the Program Schedule. Most immediately, Dan Chaij will reveal to us the fascination of the stamps of Cuba with his show that allows you to picture how that country's stamps tie together decades of history. This is definitely one to see!

But wait – there's more. So you didn't make it to Washington 2006? How about some feedback from those who did? Maybe you have picked up some pieces here and there – from the philatelic press and elsewhere, but come and hear what your fellow attending members have to say.

Lady Astor, the first woman elected to the British House of Commons and Sir Winston Churchill were bitter political enemies. They constantly threw barbs at on another. One particularly memorable one was this:

Lady Astor: Sir, if you were my husband I would put arsenic in your coffee.

Sir Churchill: Madam, if I were your husband I would drink it.

Call for articles. Wouldn't it be nice to have articles in this newsletter by club members? What is suggested is anything from two or three paragraphs to perhaps an entire page. Something about your collection, your collecting experience, or anything else related to our hobby. Won't you give it a try? Write something and give it to your editor for a future edition.

Our club recently hosted a joint Southeast Federation and Planning Meeting for the Southeastern Stamp Show '06 to be held in September in Marietta. Harrison Gill arranged for the meeting facility at the First Christian Church, where we usually have our Christmas party. This is mentioned to remind you that stamp shows don't just happen. They take months of planning and hard work by some dedicated people, as are those who made the trip to Chattanooga this month from several cities. That effort will pay off when the show takes place on September 22-24 at the Cobb County Civic Center in Marietta. The Southeast Federation of which our club is a member is the show sponsor. That makes this show our show. Make your plans right now to attend. Last year we had two exhibitors and several more members attend. Let's add to that this year!

We do not remember days,
We remember Moments.
